A Guide to Online Induction

1.1 Introducing learners to their programme

The Education and Skills Funding Agency (ESFA) guidance states that:

“Starting a new programme is a big step in the dark for most people and for some it is a big leap. Many learners, especially if they come straight from school, won’t have much experience of working and learning at the same time. They will have to get to grips with the new environment they are in, the expectations they and others have and the processes involved.”

1.2 Apprentices need to receive

A full and accurate picture of what is expected of them.

AND

A clear understanding of who is involved and what their roles are.

1.3 Induction process

Good practice.

“Induction is best seen as a process rather than a single event. It may take hours or even days, and it may be spread over a period of several weeks. It is also useful to revisit the information introduced at induction later on to check and review learners’ understanding.”

1.4 Key messages

- It is important to see induction as an interactive process.
- It is important to present information in straightforward terms that the apprentices can understand.
- It is important to link the information given to apprentices to their job.
- It is important to link information together so that apprentices can make sense of it as a whole.
- It is important to ensure that the information presented is of a practical use to the learner.

1.5 What to cover

- Introduction to the Apprenticeship.
- Introduction to learning.
- Introduction to the job.
- Introduction to procedures.

A Guide to Online Induction

2 League Football Education induction materials

LFE has designed and produced online induction materials to assist clubs in the process of inducting apprenticeship players into their programme.

These units are available via LFE’s Education Management System (EMS). Please go to www.lfe.org.uk for the apprentices to log on to the EMS to access the online induction materials.

2.1 Induction content

There are eight units to the online induction programme:

1. Safeguarding
2. Apprenticeship Programme (SEP)
3. Employment Rights and Responsibilities*
4. Rules and Regulations
5. Health and Safety*
6. Equality, Diversity and Inclusion*
7. Drugs Awareness
8. Well-being

*N.B. Key elements to the Apprenticeship programme.

Clubs should support delivery of the online learning units. Where possible, they should provide their own resources to assist completion of the units.

2.2 Staffing Induction

LFE suggests that a mixture of people are involved in the delivery of the induction:

Academy Manager	AM
Youth Team Coach	YC
Club Physiotherapist	CP
Head of Education	HOE
Player Care Officer	PCO
Welfare Officer	WO
Health and Safety Officer	HSO
Academy Administrator/ Club Secretary	AA/CS
Designated Safeguarding Officer	DSO

2.3 How to use the online modules

Once on the EMS homepage, apprentices click on ‘My Courses’ followed by ‘Induction’.

There is an online module and feedback page for each induction topic, accessible by clicking on the play button next to each topic.

Apprentices will automatically be taken to the feedback page once they have completed each online module.

Each module is designed in a similar way where apprentices are required to read information on a specific topic, then answer questions periodically to check their understanding.

A progress bar will show at the bottom of each module to show the apprentice their overall progress.

A Guide to Online Induction

2.4 Tracking their progress

Tutors can check progress on the EMS homepage.

Go to Classes > Progress Tracking

Select Induction from the first drop down, followed by Induction from the next drop down, then click on 'Show Learners'.

2.5 Delivery format

LFE does not wish to be prescriptive over the delivery format and timing of induction. However, LFE recommends a modular approach to induction with the separate elements being delivered within the first four weeks of the start of the programme.

2.6 Length of time

Induction must be completed by 31st July. LFE accepts that clubs may recruit some players later than others, and that these players will need extra time to complete their induction programme, so arrangements should be made to facilitate this.

PLEASE NOTE – Apprenticeship players cannot commence their Apprenticeship programme until the third Monday of June. However, club induction activities can start before this date.

REMEMBER – As employers, it is the club's legal responsibility to deliver an induction process to new employees.

2.7 Follow up

The LFE review process will check learners' understanding of the information given during induction. In particular, equality, diversity and inclusion, employment rights and responsibilities and health and safety will be discussed at apprentice review meetings.

2.8 Evaluation and improvement

However well the induction is designed and delivered, there is always room for improvement. LFE will actively seek the views of both apprentices and the tutors involved in the delivery of induction to obtain feedback on things such as:

- the amount of information given
- whether apprentices see the link between the information given and various aspects of the programme
- how well prepared apprentices felt for starting for work.

2.9 LFE Regional Officer support

Should you require further clarification, help or support on any aspect of the induction process, please contact your Regional Officer, who will be pleased to help.
